The task of empaneling a jury agreeable to both sides was commenced at eleven-thirty. At 12.30 five men had been selected when the court adjourned until 2.00 o'clock. When the court was resumed the empaneling continued and at 3.45 the twelve men for the panel had been chosen. The panel is as follows:

Harold McKeen, Fryeburg.
Edward Jones, Fryeburg.
T. P. Cole, Mexico.
O. B. Farwell, Bethel.
Arthur Cameron, Rumford.
B. C. Doyen, Mexico.
Winfield B. Fessenden, Fryeburg.
Howard S. Maxim, Bethel.
Oscar Judkins, Upton.
Frank L. Leavitt, Mexico.
Thomas W. Charles, Fryeburg.
H. S. Pushard, Bethel.

Out of the seveney men to empanel the jury from, 33 were called to the stand and examined, before a panel, satisfactory to both sides was obtained.

The first called was Eugene H. Goff of Mexico. Mr. Goff worked in the woods and claimed that he had read about the murder in some of the papers and had sort made up his mind that the party was guilty. He had also heard the matter discussed.

Harold McKeen of Fryeburg, who is a farmer, 30 years of age, said that he had not read or heard about the murder to any great extent and that he had not made up his mind as to Pratt.

Harry E. Walker of Brownfield, a farmer, is 38 years old; claimed that he had heard nothing about the case except what he read in one paper; was on the grand jury seven years ago.

Edward Jones of Fryeburg, 54 years of age, had not heard the case talked to any great extent, only casually spoken of. He is married and has two sons.

C. S. Stanton of Oxford had formed an opinion. He lives within two miles of South Paris.

T. P. Cole of Mexico testified that he had only read the head-lines to the case and that he was not prejudiced in the matter.

Bernard Adams of Canton, who lives at Canton Point, had read the articles in the papers and besides had some talk concerning the case on the way to South Paris, Wednesday forenoon. He is 28 years of age.

Walter Hanson of Rumford Falls, had heard the case discussed since coming to South Paris, had visited the Pratt place early in the week but had formed no opinion as to the guilty party.

Arthur Cameron, who in the supernumary at the present term of court, is married and has one child. He had heard the case spoken of and had visited the Pratt place since being at South Parsi, but had formed no opinion so but what he could judge according to the testimony given by the witnesses.

B. C. Doyen, of Mexico had not read much about the affair and had not heard it discussed, nor had any opinion as to the guilty party.

Norman E. Bessey of Buckfield claimed that he had heard the case discussed at the time of the finding of the body, at his lumber yard with the workmen.

Winfield B. Fessenden of Fryeburg had not read of the murder nor had he talked it over, had merely heard it spoken of.

C. B. Easton of Rumford had heard a conversation concerning the case.

Howard F. Maxim of Bethel is a carpenter by trade. He had not heard the case discussed and had not read much concerning it.

D. L. Pride of Waterford, a farmer, had read the paper accounts of the murder and felt that he had formed a strong impression that it would take a considerable evidence to change and while he should go according to the sworn evidence given, felt that the impression already formed might have some weight.

Oscar Judkins of Upton, 22 years old, had heard it discussed in a general way, mostly outside of the court house, but had heard no remarks by the officers.

Wilson Dearborn of Canton, 53 years of age, had not heard it discussed to any great extent.

Elsworth W. Sawyer of Porter, had formed no opinion but had an impression of the case but thought that he could act free. He is a merchant and has been deputy sheriff.

Charles J. Small of Hiram, a mechanic, had heard it discussed slightly.

Frank A. Leavitt of Mexico, 63 years of age, said he had not heard anything about it, more than a mention of the case.

Charles F. Abbott of North Bethel, had formed an opinion in the case that would need a considerable of evidence to shatter. He served on the grand jury a number of years ago.

F. M. Cooper of Buckfield, a farmer, had heard the case talked over some and had formed an opinion when he came up but had talked with no one who was to be a witness.

R. M. Woodsum of Rumford, time keeper at the Oxford mills, is married and has one child. He had heard it talked over and had formed an opinion and felt pretty sure that it would need considerable evidence to change that opinion after all of the newspaper reading on the matter. If drawn he should try to eliminate all. Feared that this opinion might have some weight.

Thomas W. Charles of Fryeburg said that he knew nothing concerning the case.

George P. Stanley of Dixfield, superintendent of the Tooth Pick Factory at Dixfield had heard it discussed, and had formed an opinion which he thought might have some weight.

W. C. Cross of Greenwood, 38 years old, is married and has three children. He was on the jury 6 or 7 years ago. He had not heard it discussed, but from what he had read, had formed an opinion that was still with him, however he should try to be fair, if drawn.

W. H. Freeman of Rumford, had read it in the papers, but had not talked it over, nor formed any opinion.

T. B. W. Stetson of Hartford, had read it in the papers and formed an opinion which has not changed.

Walter C. Bickford, Brownfield, a farmer, 54 years of age, had heard it talked over in his home.

Maurice T. Judkins of Dixfield, had heard the case talked over to some extent and had been to the Pratt house since being in South Paris.

H. S. Pushard of Bethel, a store keeper, had heard it discussed a very little and had read a ilttle of the case but had formed no opinion.

A. C. King of Locke's Mills, 31 years of age, had heard it discussed to some extent.

O. B. Farwell of Bethel, had read of the case some in the papers and had heard it discussed a little outside of his family but should judge according to evidence.

The fourth juryman selected, Walter Hanson of Rumford, was excused and O. B. Farwell took his place on the panel.

The counsel in the case is Alton C. Wheeler of South Paris and Harrie L. Webber of Auburn for the defendant and County Attorney Albert Beliveau and Attorney General W. H. Pettengall, for the State.

The theory on which the State bases its claim that Prescott Edward Pratt was guilty of this murder was set forth by the County Attorney, Beliveau. The State claims that Pratt finished working for Harry Holden during the week of September 26th, and that he had $1.50. About that time he told that he was going to Portland to get married. The next Sunday he came to Holden's in a Ford car. He met Woodbury Thayer and they went to Lewiston to change cars, with Dwight Edwards, the garage man. He asked Pratt where he got the car and gave his name as Cash of Bethel, a dealer in cars. It is also claimed that Pratt had made admissions to Mrs. Clara Cutting and Hiram Cummings. Mrs. Cutting asked Cummings to kill a cat and when he threw it down the skuttle he noticed a quilt and looking under it saw a dead body. It is claimed he spoke to Pratt about it and Pratt said, "If you say a word you will go where that man is." It is also alleged Pratt told Cummings that on his way from Bethel he had placed a gun at the man's head, shot him through the head and threw him in the back of the auto and brought him there. Pratt also had a large roll of bills and went to Eastman's store and bought a suit of clothes. The watch Davis had is alleged to have been traded at Pierce's and the number corresponds to the watch that Davis had repaired by parties in Vermont. The large roll of bills he had he told his brother that he got by gambling. About the first of October he gave Eva Dudley a revolver. It is alleged that he has told Mrs. Cut-

Basket Ball.

The last game of basket ball for the season by the Norway High school basket ball team was played with the Rumford team at the Opera House Friday evening. The score was 35-27 in favor of the Norway High. The game was a fast one and though the Norway team was disabled, they kept the lead. Shepard, who was injured the week before by a sprained ankle, was not up to his usual speed. Smith was unable to play at all on account of a broken rib. Their places were taken by substitutes, and well filled.

Norway High in Base Ball.

Now that the Norway High school basket ball team has brought its season to a most successful close, thoughts turn to base ball. Norway High will have one of the best teams that the school has ever put onto the diamond. With Herbert E. Boucher, a former Dean Academy star, engaged as coach, and with a bunch of veteran ball tossers in the school.

The team is captained this year by Captain Klain, who twirled for the team last year. Smith, who pitched for the Bridgton academy team last year, and Brooks for the backstopping position and Moore, of a Canadian school, for the pitching work. Smith is a well-built fellow.

Shepard, last year's regular second baseman, will take care of the initial sack this year. Sanderson, who performed around the furtherest corner on the Bridgton Academy team last season will do likewise for Norway this year while Hosmer will again be seen cavorting around the short field. Brooks, Haskell and Bethell will take care of everything that happens outside the infield with Andrews to fill in.

The schedule to date includes six games arranged by Manager Sanderson:

N. H. S. vs. Paris high school.
N. H. S. vs. Portland high school.
N. H. S. vs. Gould Academy.
N. H. S. vs. Bates 2d.
N. H. S. vs. Lisbon high school.
N. H. S. vs. Hebron academy.

The complete schedule will be announced later.

A checker tournament was held at F. L. Starbird's, Saturday, with eight contestants. Each contestant played two games with each opponent. Each game counted two points to the winner, on one point to each player on a draw. Summary of the score:

Cross of Norway	17
Clark of Bolster's Mills	17
Francis of Oxford	16
Holden of Otisfield	15
Packard of Buckfield	15
Morris of Livermore Falls	14
Carter of Norway	8
Starbird of Norway	6

Beautiful, Rare, Old Growth Maple Logs.

There are being shipped from the Norway station some beautiful specimens of rare and ancient old growth maple logs. These are all large and straight and have to be large enough to turn 29 inches in diameter and free from knots, blemishes or any defects. The largest specimen measures 34½ diameter at the largest and of a log 14½ feet long and 30½ inches at the smaller end. The growth was exceeding slow but regular 278 rings have been counted less than ½ apart which indicates that the tree is nearly 300 years old, and that this was a young sapling about the time that our Pilgrim forefathers landed. One of the trees came from Stoneham and others from Chatham, N. H., being teamed 40 miles overland.

These logs were hauled by R. K. Morrill with his famous 6-ox team and are to go to the Berlin Mills Co.

These logs will be submerged in the canal until wanted, when they will be cut up into 6 foot lengths and then bored in the center and a large shaft run through and a flange bolted on both ends. The rolls must be accurately turned and perfectly smooth.

A wide endless felt band runs between these immense rolls ladened with wood pulp and the ponderous rolls press it into sheets of pulp or roll of paper.

The possession of these monster trees would cause any lumberman's heart to swell with pride.

The passing of these noble trees that have stood the stress of wind, storm, fire and spared by axe so many ages, awakens feelings of regret, a sort of sadness for these rare trees can never be replaced again by trees from our local territory.

The Soldier's Last Hymn.

A New York paper prints the following about a well known writer, formerly a teacher in Norway High school:

"Alma Pendexter Hayden is a well known Rochester poetess whose song, 'The Soldier's Parting Hymn,' has met with great favor in Toronto and other Canadian cities. Mrs. Hayden is a woman of broad education and, for years, the successful superintendent of the Rochester Industrial School, where her influence as an educator of the highest type has been strongly evident. Her latest poem, 'The Land of the Broken Heart,' holds a strong religious sentiment and has been widely copied.

"Mrs. Hayden is a member of the First Presbyterian church of Rochester. She belongs to the Shakespeare Club and the Monday Club and is one of the members of the conference for the rehabilitation of families. The words of Mrs. Hayden's war song are based on an actual incident. When the first contingent was leaving Canada the band played 'Abide With Me,' and Mrs. Hayden wrote the beautiful and touching verses, 'The Soldier's Last Hymn.'"

DIED FROM INJURIES.

David Young died in the Lynn, Mass. hospital last Saturday night from injuries which he received 48 hours before during a fight in a lodging house at the corner of Silsbee and Union streets in that city. Dominique Fortunato is held by the Lynn police on the charge of manslaughter, it being alleged that he knocked Mr. Young to the floor during an attack which was first started on Ellsworth Young, former proprietor of the Elm House in this town.

According to the story which was told the Lynn police, Fortunato went to the lodging house which was run by Ellsworth Young and the dead man and asked for a room. He was refused, and started a rough-house which ended by Ellsworth being struck on the head with a water pitcher. David Young went to the assistance of his son and was knocked down, being rendered unconscious.

Another account of the affair is that Fortunato and another man came to the house and engaged a room at about 6.30 o'clock, and a few minutes later they were heard fighting in the room. Ellsworth went to the room and was attacked.

Policeman James Muckian heard the racket in the house and started an investigation. Fortunato made his escape, but was caught some hours later within a short distance of the house. Mr. Young was hurried to the Lynn hospital, where it was found he was suffering from concussion of the brain. He did not regain consciousness from the time he was admitted to the institution.

The autopsy disclosed a clot of blood on the brain about two inches in diameter, directly beneath the wound on the scalp. He was struck by a wash bowl which was hurled at him. The blow caused a hemorrhage into the brain substance.

Funeral services were held at his home, 4 Silsbee street, Tuesday, conducted by Rev. Dr. Frederic W. Perkins, pastor of the First Universalist church of Lynn. There was singing by the Park Male quartet. Following the services the body was brought to Norway.

Mr. Young was 80 years old. He lived in Norway for many years at the corner of Main and Paris streets and was employed in the tannery run by John L. Horne. Later he worked in the Norway shoe factory. He went to Lynn some years ago to live with his son, who conducted a boarding and lodging house which was much patronized by shoemakers from Norway, who sought work in Lynn.

Mr. Young was born in Greenwood, Jan. 8th, 1836, and when a young man followed the sea and visited nearly every port in the world. He served as a bugler for three years during the Civil War.

He was married in 1854 and had been a widower 25 years. For the past 20 years he had made his home with his son, Ellsworth Young. He is survived by two sons, Ellsworth and Fred W. Young, both of Lynn, the latter an employee on the Lynn Item, and four daughters, Mrs. Evelyn M. Pettengill of Dorchester, Mass., Mrs. Maud L. Watson and Mildred A. Young of Newark, N. J. Convincing Testimony

Given by Many Norway People.

Experiences told by Norway people—
Those who have had weak kidneys—

You must believe Norway people.
Here's Norway proof. Verify it.

"It gives me pleasure to verify my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills," said Mrs. Persis A. Walker, of Cottage St., Norway. "They have done me a lot of good. HAVE YOU CATARRH?

It's a Dangerous Disease—Hyomei is the Easy, Safe and Rapid Remedy.

Catarrh, which is usually indicated by sniffling, frequest colds, droppings in the throat and raising of mucous as a serious disease because it surely spreads to the delicate lining of the air passages, weakens the entire system, frequently destroying the hearing, and makes a mental and physical wreck of its victims.

It's as foolish to take drugs to cure catarrh as to swallow a pill to heal a broken arm. You must have a direct application—something that will at once reach the diseased tissues, kill the germs, and drive out the poison.

Hyomei, that can be had from any druggist, is just such a remedy. Being a mixture of antiseptic and healing oils that you breathe through a small inhaler its health-restoring medication cannot help going direct to the raw and inflamed lining of the nose and throat, quickly relieving that choked-up feeling, stopping the unclean discharges from the nose, and healing the sore spots—you breathe freely. Even the worst cases respond at once.

There is nothing for the treatment of catarrh ills that is easier, more pleasant or so satisfying as Hyomei, and it is most inexpensive. Noyes Drug Store sells it on the "No-cure-no-pay" plan. 12&13

TIRED OF PLAY.

I'm tired of play, dear Father, ready now,
Safe in the hollow of Thy hand to fall
Asleep and rest, as Thou Lord knowest how
To hold us, past all fear of Pain's recall.

And if I chance to leave some one behind
Who loves me, when Thou takest me to sleep,
I pray Thee, Father, unto them be kind,
And dry the eyes that all too vainly weep.

They, who dry-eyed have watched my daily life,
And seen me turn its bitterness to play,—
How can they weep when I shall leave the strife
For rest with Thee, forever and for aye!

CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

MAN'S FOLLY.

Thou, whom eternal ages praise,
Lift up Thy Sceptre o'er the earth;
Bid error cease and darkness flee,
By Thy Almighty power's decree.

To conquer Thy majestic laws,
Usurp Thy kingdom, urge his cause,
Vain doth man strive, forever strive,
Disdaining truth,—tradition prize.

By searching who can find Thee out?
In outer darkness he doth yearn;
'Tis childlike faith alone, discerns
Through revelation's mighty count.

With outstretched arm Thy people save
From out this fiery breath of Hell;
Bow down, O, Earth! a listening ear;
Proud Lucifer from Heaven fell.

Thy puny struggles cost how dear,
Temptation lures thee far from peace;
O hasten! hasten the glad day
When all creation, Truth obey.

FIDELITY.

CHILDREN'S COLUMN.

Bethel, March 1, 1915.

Dear Editor:—I will write about my chickens. First I will tell their names, Elsie, Alice, Dolly, Flora, Ellen, Brownie, Polly, Bertha and Jack. They are very cunning. Most of them are white. Their mother's name is Bessie. She was a last year pullet. I like chickens. I expect to go to school next week. I will be glad. I will send one of my school songs.

Motion Song.

I will hold my right hand so,
I will hold my left hand so,
Bowing first to the right and then to the left,
Tapping lightly as we go.

I will place my right foot so,
I will place my left foot so,
Bowing first to the right and then to the left,
Tapping lightly as we go.

I will close my right hand so,
I will close my left hand so,
Then I spread my fingers wide apart,
Then I twirl them lightly so.

I will draw a circle so,
I will draw a circle so,
Then I loudly clap my hands apart,
Then I twirl them lightly so.

My dear Girls and Boys:—Do you know who first used the word "trail" to indicate a marking of the way home? You know when they passed for the first time over an unknown prairie or through an untrodden forest, they bent the grass, or the twigs and branches of trees in such a way that when another followed he would know the course that had been taken; or when they wished to return home themselves they could follow the exact path they came. Later men "blazed the trail" through the woods or along water courses by cutting one side of the trees, in a way with which all are familiar, at least is is so in history and picture. And then it came about in some of the western lumber camps, where sawdust was plentiful and light to carry and where the dropping of but a few grains sufficed to indicate the way taken, that this was used is show the safe path. Imagine a man lost in the depths of a great forest; he had been circling around in its vast areas, but reaching nowhere, and accomplishing nothing. Suddenly he sees a bit of sawdust lying at his feet. Somebody has been there before him, and that somebody knew the way home! How his heart must leap with joy, as his feet follow the "trail," the "sawdust trail!"

It was some years ago in such a western lumber camp, where a great Evangelist was holding meeting that the expression was first applied to those who, recognizing the lost condition, and being pointed to the right way home to Heaven, accepted it and in token came forward down this other kind of a sawdust trail.

Man Takes His Own Medicine Is An Optimist.

He has absolute faith in his medicine—he knows when he takes it for certain ailments he gets relief. People who take Dr. King's New Discovery for an irritating Cold are optimists—they know this cough remedy will penetrate the linings of the throat, kill the germs, and open the way for Nature to act. You can't destroy a Cold by superficial treatment—you must go to the cause of the trouble. Be an optimist. Get a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery to-day. 12 15-18-21

Rumford Man Burned to Death.

John Snell, aged about 65 years, was burned to death, Friday morning, in a little shack on the outskirts of Rumford. Several months ago he bought this shack which was used as a paint shop by a local firm.

The fire was discovered about five o'clock. The fire department of Rumford arrived at the scene in response to the alarm and Chief Cobb of the police department discovered the charred body of Snell.

Snell returned, Thursday, from South Paris, where he testified before the grand jury in a case in which parties were charged with stealing brass from one of the local mills. When the session of the jury was suspended he returned to this place for over Sunday, and was to return to South Paris, Tuesday, to give further testimony.

The police department visited the ruins and after looking over the same decided to notify the county attorney. County Attorney Albert Belliveau immediately started an investigation. As the man lived alone and has no relatives living here there was little to work on.

After the investigation County Attorney Albert Belliveau said that there was not the slightest indications that Snell met his death by foul play. His tragic death gave rise to the fear that the building might have been set fire by associates of the men whom he testified against at court.

It was learned that Snell had had no stove in the shack all winter up to about two weeks ago, when he put in a stove. His principal fuel was felt that he picked up on the dump. This was soaked with water, and to dry it he piled it up around the stove. The night watchman of the local foundry in making his rounds called into the shack, and he stated to the investigators that the stove was then red hot The presumption is that the felt was set on fire by the hot stove, and that Snell was smothered by the smoke.

Mr. Snell was industrious, did odd jobs, and had been employed as a rag picker in one of the paper mills. It was learned that he has a daughter and sister living in Cambridge, Mass., and they have been notified of his death. It is known that he carried a life insurance amounting to $500 but who the beneficiary named in the policy is, it is not known. It is probable that the insurance papers were destroyed in the fire which also resulted in his death. Snell was last seen alive late that night by Night Watchman Roy at the foundry. He semed cheerful and talked a little with the watchman as the later was on his rounds about the foundry property.

A Wonderful Healing Influence In Kidney Troubles.

A year and a half ago I was taken with a severe attack of Kidney trouble that pained me to such an extent that morphine had to be given me. Was attended by a doctor who pronounced it as Stone in the Bladder and prescribed Lithia Water. I took Lithia Water and Tablets for some time and received no relief from them. I stopped taking medicines for some time, later having some Swamp-Root in the house I decided to try it and felt much relieved. While taking the second bottle commenced to pass Gravel in urine until I had passed in all at least a half dozen or more and have not suffered the slighest since —and in all have taken one bottle and a half and feel very grateful to Swamp-Root.

Yours very truly,
H. W. SPINKS,
Camp Hill, Ala.

Personally appeared before me this 16th day of August, 1909, H. W. Spinks, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

DEVOE TOOK 9½ GALLONS LESS

Judge I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin, Texas, had two houses painted, both same size. One was painted with a leading top-price paint, and took 25 gallons. The other was painted with Devoe, and took only 15½ gallons. The "leading paint" referred to is adulterated 15%, but is sold at the same price as Devoe.

The most economical paint always is the one that takes least gallons and wears longest, and that's Devoe.

may bring sickness, doctors bills and loss of work; you know that serious sickness usually starts with a cold, and a cold only exists where weakness exists. Remember that.

Overcome the weakness and nature cures the cold—that is the law of reason. Carefully avoid drugged pills, syrups or stimulants; they are only props and braces and whips.

NOTED MEN OF OXFORD COUNTY.

The article in your paper about Oxford County men, was of much interest, especially to an early resident of said County. Nevertheless it seemed incomplete. I was pleased to see in a later issue the names of two more given, having known of one in the early days. I would like to have mentioned, Alden Chase and his son, A. F. Chase. Will you please insert the enclosed.

Alden Chase, Esq., born in Woodstock in 1819. Began teaching when seventeen years of age. His townspeople honored him with all the offices they could give. Served in the Legislature three terms. Was one of the Committee in 1851 to report the famous Neal Dow Liquor Bill, the Maine Liquor Law, which he ardently supported. Was elected Register of Deeds, serving two terms of five years each, residing on Paris Hill, where the County Buildings then were. Later, was postmaster at Bryant Pond. A republican. At his decease, 1905, his private library numbered over 2,500 volumes.

Rev. Alden Fitzroy Chase, Ph. D., son of Alden and Lucy Cole Chase, a prominent educator, a graduate from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., Prof. of Mathematics and English Literature in Wilbraham Academy, Mass., and at Kent's Hill, Maine, principal of East Maine Conference Seminary at Bucksport, until elected president of the Maine Wesleyan Seminary and Female College at Kent's Hill, which place he filled until his death, Oct. 22, 1898. He joined the Methodist Conference in 1872. His life took hold of many lives, for he loved his work and gave himself to it with rare Christian consecration and devotion.

When Maine Wakes Up.

"When Maine begins to raise apples scientifically, then the far western states will have to sit up and take notice," that is what the apple growers themselves are staying in the west.

Just try one of the Maine apples and compare the flavor with the western apples and yet Maine has hardly begun to dream of scientific apple growing, the great farms here offer splendid opportunities for the very best of apple growing advantages and once the Maine men are aroused to the necessity of science to develop their orchards you will see such a boom in Maine apples that for a time the supply will no doubt not be equal to the demand.

"Me for 'GETS-IT' When I Have Corns"

Simple As Saying It; Never Fails.

It does your heart good to see how easily and quickly any corn comes out when you put "GETS-IT" on! And then when you've gone along for years trying everything, when you've sat up nights wrapping up your toes in bandages, smearing on salves that rub off or swell up the corn, pasting on cotton plasters that make corns pop-eyed, slaughtering your toes with razors, jabbing them with knives and pruning to the quick with scissors—and then you put on 2 drops of "GETS-IT" and see your corn fall right off—why, it just looks like a miracle. Just try it. "GETS-IT" never fails. No pain, no trouble. Use it for any corn, callus, wart or bunion.

"Look, 'GETS-IT' Makes Corns Fall Right Off!"

SUPREME JUDICIAL COURT.

March Term, 1915.

In the Rumford vs. Upton pauper case, the jury was out nearly all day Friday and after several appearances in the court room for instructions, returned the verdict for the defence.

Smith vs. Maine Central.

The suit brought by William H. Smith of Stow for damages to cattle which had been brought to the depot at Fryeburg for shipment. Mr. Smith on the 17th of November, 1913, drove about 20 cattle to the Fryeburg station. In requiring, on his way, of the station agent, by telephone, if the car was ready, was told the car was not there, but claims he was told to put the cattle in the yard at the depot until the next morning when a car would be there. Smith and his men went to the yard about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, put the cattle in and left them.

During the night the cattle got out, two of the bars at the gateway being broken in the middle. Part of the cattle strayed down the railroad track, and were struck by a train, one ox and two cows being either killed outright or so badly hurt that they were killed to stop their suffering, while three other cows were bruised and injured. Mr. Smith and the men who assisted him in closing the yard stated that they put up four bars, which was all they could ,find though there were slots for five in the posts. On the other hand, witnesses for the railroad testified that in the morning there were only three bars in place, two of which had been broken in the middle, while the other two bars were lying, one inside the yard and the other outside.

Hon. James S. Wright was attorney for the plaintiff Smith, and Col. George D. Bisbee was counsel for the railroad, with the assistance of his grandson, Spaulding D. Bisbee, opened the defence in this case.

The case went to the jury in the latter part of the afternoon, Friday, and the next morning returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $204.65. The case will go to the law court.

Hill vs. Hodgdon.

Albert R. Hill of Brownfield brought suit against John Hodgdon of the same town to determine the ownership of a light red steer valued at about $65. At the time the suit was brought the steer was at Hodgdon's.

Mr. Hill claims the steer as one he bought of Charles Norton in the fall of 1912 and which remained in his possession until late in the fall of 1914, when it was taken from his meadow by Mr. Hodgdon and another man.

On the other hand Mr. Hodgdon claims the steer as one which was dropped in his barn early in 1913, which was one of a pair and he had ever since owned him.

It appeared that Mr. Hill's light red odd steer and Mr. Hodgdon's pair of light red steers were turned out in the summer of 1914 in pastures at some distance from home. When the cattle were brought home in the fall, some of them were missing, and Mr. Hodgdon found two black steers with Mr. Hill's cattle and was allowed to take them home. Later he went and took home from Mr. Hill's meadow the light red steer, which both he and Mr. Hill now claim.

Mr. Hill claims to identify his steer particularly by a bunch or wen on its belly. When a few weeks since the steer was examined in Mr. Hodgdon's barn, a scar appeared in place of the bunch.

On Mr. Hodgdon's part the steer was identified by high horns, curly head and a noticeable wart on its ear.

The identification of the steer was quite positive by a number of witnesses for the one side and the other, including the grandchildren of both parties.

Alton C. Wheeler was attorney for Mr. Hill, and Hugh W. Hastings of Hastings & Son of Fryeburg, conducted the case for Mr. Hodgdon, with Mr. Wright as assisting counsel.

A part of the day Saturday was occupied with this case, which went to the jury late in the afternoon. After being out a few minutes they returned a verdict for the defendant.

Indictments.

The Grand Jury was busy from Tuesday morning until late Friday afternoon. The following indictments were returned:

Prescott Edward Pratt of Paris. Murder.
Antonio Ruscio of Rumford. Murder.
Dominick Pocius of Rumford. Nuisance.
John Carney and Gerald Skerry, both of Rumford. Two indictments for larceny.
Matthew McLeod of Rumford. Assault on officer.
Clara Vaughn of Peru. Larceny.
Herbert McDowell of Rumford. Assault and larceny from the person.
Al Haskell of Rumford. Assault.
Levo Plaszcauskis of Rumford. Forgery.
Charles Leroy Emmons of Lynn, Mass. Forgery.
Albert St. Pierre and Edmund Sutton, both of Rumford. Breaking and entering in the daytime.
William Haddow of Rumford. Larceny.

The Civil suits brought by Macgregor Bros., Marco Lavorgra & Co., and Marco Lavorgra against the Jackman Lumber Co., which were to be tried Monday afternoon, have been continued because of the illness of Hon. John P. Swasey, attorney for the plaintiff.

Criminal Matters.

Al. Haskell of Buckfield, for assault and battery, was fined $5 and costs taxed at $15. He paid and was discharged.

Herbert McDowell of Rumford Falls pleaded not guilty to the charge of larceny. This was a jury trial and McDowell had Hugh W. Hastings for counsel. It was claimed that on Feb. 9th, McDowell met one G. Rowe, and drank together some, and the same was repeated the next forenoon. In the afternoon Rowe became intensely intoxicated and McDowell had the man taken to the police station to sober up. In the mean time he claimed he took the money which proved to be $17, from his person to keep for him as a friendly act.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur J. Landry of Rumford, testified to arresting McDowell in a pool room and after asking him about the money searched him and found $12 in his trousers pocket and $5 in his sweater. One of the $5 had a hole in it, according to testimony on both sides.

The judge charged the jury in regard to criminal cases as to the difference between a verdict in criminal cases and civil cases.

The jury in the case was out for 20 minutes and returned a verdict of guilty.

Charles Leroy Emmons of Lynn, Mass., was indicted for forgery to which he pleaded not guilty. Emmons came to Andover and boarded at Mrs. Dr. Twitchell's for two weeks and had not paid his board, but it was inferred that he had money in the Mexico bank. Mrs. Twitchell insisted on his going to Mexico for it and he informed her he did not have any. Dept. Sheriff Thomas W. Penley was notified and came to Andover and took Emmons who is a boy 17 years of age, to Rumford. On the way down he showed him a check for $250 drawn on a bank at Parrott, Fla. He took the check, but the boy claimed he did not ask him to cash it. He took the check to the bank and after telepraphing, found there was no money. The boy claimed he found the check book while working as an electrician in the subteranean passage in the Panama canal, where he was working previous to coming to Maine. He claimed after he found the book he wrote out checks for the fun of it and threw them away and there were several in the book. He claimed he did not intend to forge the check and did not give it as pay.

The jury was out about an hour and a half and returned a verdict of not guilty. Emmons was arrested on other charges after being discharged on this charge.

PARIS.

First Frame House in Town.

The house on the north side of Paris Hill owned by Mrs. Jarvis L. Carter, is 129 years old and is supposed to be the first frame house built in the town. All the panneling has been preserved and remains the chief ornament of the old house. The house has been closed during the winter, but will be occupied the coming summer by Mrs. Carter, who now resides in New York City.

This house was built by Lemuel Jackson, Jr. The frame was raised in April, 1789, and the year in which it was built is placed upon the end of the house. The house was so nearly completed by the following Fourth of July that the first Fourth of July celebration which was ever held in this vicinity (then the County of York) was held at the house in 1789. The address was given by Dr. Ebenezer Taylor who was a physician settled in what is now Buckfield. Mr. Taylor gave his oration standing upon a rum hogshead which was placed on end in the door yard. Old and young from all the settlements within 20 miles were present. Dinner was furnished by Mr. Jackson. It is said that for earnest, zealous patriotism, this celebration has never been surpassed by any in later years.

The Jackson family was one of the first families to settle in the town of Paris or as it was then called, township Ne. 4. The first settlers' log house was built by them and was located near the site of the old burying place on Paris Hill. Previous to that time, there were only hunters' camps. Lemuel Jackson, Jr., came from Middleborough, Mass., to New Gloucester and from there to Paris in 1779 and bought settling lands. In 1780 he felled trees and cleared the land and in 1781 raised the first crop of corn. In the summer or autumn of 1781, the other members of the Jackson family came to Paris. Lemuel Jackson, Sr., who was somewhat advanced in years when he came, brought with him about $1,400 in silver money and greatly helped the settlement of the town.

The Sunshine Club met with Mrs. Albion Abbott at Long Look Farm last Wednesday, March 10th. There were thirteen ladies and two children present. At noon we were called to partake of a bountiful dinner which all quickly accepted. All worked very busily on the work that was laid out for the day and when done the rest of the time was spent in playing cards and music. Everyone agreed that the day had been very pleasantly spent, and enough ''sunshine'' to keep the rooms just the right temperature. The next meeting is with Mrs. Clarence Stearns on Stearns' Hill, Wednesday, March 17th.

Mrs. J. C. Cummings is having quite a little work done on the inside of her house,—new hard wood hall floors, and papering and painting.

Winnifred Willis of Lewiston, a former resident of this village, is spending a vacation at the Hubbard House.

John Cole attended the wedding of William Chase at Mechanic Falls, Saturday evening.

ting that he had killed a man and put him under a barn.

At the suggestion of the County Attorney, the jury, counsel, sheriff and prisoner went to the Pratt place to view the situation for better understanding of the case. On their return to the court house, court adjourned until Thursday morning at 9.30, when the witnesses for the State took the stand.

All the jurymen who have been in attendance during this term of court and all the special jurymen, except those who were drawn on the Pratt case were discharged finally by the judge Wednesday afternoon at 4.30. The County treasurer, H. D. Smith, was engaged for some time in settling up the accounts with the jurors.

Thursday morning court convened at 9.30 with the court house filled to its fulest capacity.

Edward E. Davis of Island Pond, was the first witness for the State. He testified that he was called here to identify the body of his brother, George W. Davis, in January. He identified it as the body of his brother by marks on his foot and thumb by a bullet wound. He had gold in his teeth which were false teeth. He stated that George was 48 years old and that he had not seen him for 1½ years. Cross examination stated for 1⅞ years. Under cross examination he stated he lived outside of Island Pond and was a farmer. The last time he saw him at Portland was 1½ years ago. He stated he had seen his brother drive a car at Island Pond which was a Reo.

B. A. Trafeth of Portland testified that he was acquainted with Davis, had met him every day during the past summer and had had occasion to look into his auto and thought he could identify some of the tools.

On cross examination, said he could not identify the piece of canvas on exhibition. He knew the robe Davis used that was on exhibition, which he thought was a dark gray or brown mixture. He saw the car often. The car had 2 sets of slip covers of black mohair.

Dr. H. L. Bartlett of Norway testified to being the examinating physician of the body at Grace Thayer's undertaking rooms. He said he found the body badly decomposed and beyond recognition. In the head were two bullet wounds and in these wounds were found two bullets which had been in his possession and were in court. The bullets were 32 calibre.

Cross Examination: The bullets were weighed, one weighing 70 grams and the other 75½. The holes were just above the ear and the right hand side of the head.

Edgar L. Poore, Portland, witnessed that he was acquainted with Davis during the summer of 1914. He came to his place, to have his car, a Ford, cleaned. He identified the robe, which is a gray on one side with checks on the other and fringe; he also identified the felt strip 6 feet in length.

On cross enamination he stated that he was a garage man. This felt referred to, was of a different texture from that usually used. It was a cheaper felt than is usually used, but did not examine that one in particular.

Hiram Cummings of South Paris testified that he boarded at Prescott Pratt's the last of this fall. Pratt's mother was there for a while then Mrs. Cutting came to keep house. He didn't know how long he was at Pratt's but came from Pratt's to jail. Before coming to jail he did not notice anything unusual. He killed a cat for Mrs. Cutting and went to bury it in the barn cellar and there found a body and told Mrs. Cutting. Said Pratt told him he had killed a man on way down from Bethel, shot him in the head and kept the body a few days in the barn, then dragged it under the barn. He claimed Pratt talked to him three or four times about it and told him to shup up or he would put him where the man was. Said Pratt told him he bought a revolver over to Norway and went over by the depot to try it, while the man (Davis alleged) bought some cigars.

He had seen the sheets and clothes exhibition around the place and identified the quilt found under the barn.

On cross examination he said he didn't know when he was born and said he was 24 or 23 years old, couldn't tell time and couldn't read or write. He said Clara Cutting was at the Pratt place when he went there. When he found the body he went in and told Mrs. Cutting. She was not surprised, he said. Prescott was not there and when he came he told him. He claimed he didn't want to notify the officers for fear they would think he did it. There were two beds upstairs where he slept but didn't know where Pratt or the housekeeper slept.

Mrs. Clara Cutting of South Paris was called to the stand. She has lived in South Paris for 21 years. She went to Pratt's to heep house for him Nov. 10. Said she knew about the body two weeks before she notified the officers. Said Prescott Pratt told her he shot a man and put the body under a barn. This he told, she claimed, was the same day the cat was killed, just before it was killed. Said Pratt was acting odd and she asked him what the matter was and he told of the killing of the man. Said the man's wife in Portland gave him some money to kill the man and put the revolver in his pocket. She identified the blanket as one on the bed upstairs. She claimed that she never went down under the barn but locked down the skuttle. On cross examination she said she was born in Canada and is French Canadian, but had lived here 21 years the 9th of October. She worked at the corn factory in September and went to the Fair.

She claims Pratt came for her to work for him Nov. 10, and she had met him frequently before that, and from that date went there to stay. On being asked what Pratt told her of the murder, said he told her he had killed a man and put it under a barn. She said she didn't know what to do after the body had been found because she was scared, frightened and nervous and just didn't know what to do. She claimed she didn't remember whether Pratt told her anything more about it after the first time or not. A number of letters were introduced which she wrote to Mrs. Lucy Pratt.

The court suspended for the morning recess.

Bessey vs. McLeod.

Matthew McLeod of Rumford was indicted on the charge of assault on an officer. On the 14th of January a warrant for the seizure of a quantity of liquor was issued which it was claimed was found in McLeod's stable after searching the home of Mrs. Florence Heckbert. Search was made for McLeod and in the evening between seven and seven-thirty, Dept. Sheriff Everett M. Bessey called at Mrs. Florence Heckbert's and was invited in. McLeod was there and Bessey told him that he was the man he was looking for, that he had a warrant for his arrest and for him to come along with him. At first he objected, demanded the warrant read to ascertain what he was being arrested for and then decided to go. It was claimed by part of the testimony that a skirmish followed. Bessey claimed McLeod grabbed him and showed signs of fight. Mrs. Heckbert persuaded him to go with the officer and they started. On reaching the piazza at the head of the stairs, McLeod told Officer Bessey to go down the stairs first while Officer Bessey insisted that McLeod go. Another clinch followed and McLeod landed in the corner, Bessey on top with McLeod holding him fast by the hair of the head. Mrs. Heckbert claimed he was hitting McLeod with his billy and she ran to the rescue and held Bessey's arms. Bessey called to Thomas Penley who was at the foot of the stairs of the tenement house and he came up, took Mrs. Heckbert from Bessey and claimed Bessey did not have the billy until after he had removed Mrs. Heckbert.

It was claimed that there was more or less swearing and loud talk in the mean time. The man was handcuffed and was taken to the station.

Among the witnesses in the case were Everett M. Bessey, Thomas W. Penley, Julius Stearns, Mrs. Florence Heckbert, Harry Perry, Chief of Police Cobb, A. J. Landry and Clarence Record. The testimony given agreed and disagreed at different points, and some time was spent in examination and cross examination. Ralph T. Parker of Rumford was counsel for the defendant and his argument and that of the County Attorney was at some length. The Judge's charge to the jury included the setting forth of the law applying to the case of assault on an officer, and reviewing certain points of evidence.

The jury in the Bessey vs. McLeod case was out from 6 p. m., until about 2 a. m. and the sealed verdict was read at the opening of court Wednesday morning. The verdict returned was guilty.

Levo Plaszcauskis of Rumford was tried on the charge of forgery. Plaszcauskis it was claimed tendered a check to a clothier of $15.00 for a pair of trousers. After some inquiries as to the check he took it and gave him the change. Plaszcauskis claimed he had received the check from parties in the vicinity of Bemis where he had been working and thought the check was good. A. Mr. Jillson testified that he had taught him to write checks, not a great while previous, by guiding his hand, but he burned them up, telling him they were no good. Then the point in question as outlined by the judge in his charge for the jury to ascertain whether this check was written by the two men or by Plaszcauskis. The jury was out about 15 minutes and returned a verdict of not guilty.

In the case of Albert St. Pierre and Edmund Sutton both of Rumford, for breaking and entering in the day-time, they both pled guilty.

William Haddow of Rumford pled guilty to the charge of larceny.

Dominick Pocius of Rumford on an appealed case, paid $10.00 and was allowed to go.

The case of John Carey and Gerald Skerrie, both of Rumford, for larceny of a bronze pipe, was divided and each tried separately. Skerrie did not have counsel and did not take the stand. The evidence was that on the 27th of February a piece of bronze or copper pipe was taken from under the Clay room of the International Paper Co., and it was claimed it was removed by Carey and Skerrie. On that particular night Skerrie came to the mill at 11 o'clock for work and claimed he met Carey who told him of the pipe, while Carey claims that he saw a team from the mill dump the pipe on the dump. The pipe weighed 250 pounds and was valued at $90 and to a peddler it would be worth $30. A. E. Stearns was attorney for Carey. The judge in his charge brought out the evidence as given on the two sides and in each case the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

Arthur Downs of Rumford charged for abuse and non support of his wife and child pleaded guilty and was dismissed, to appear at court later.

The case of Fred Russell of Rumford was for having in his possession two gallons of whiskey. It was claimed that the liquor was consigned to Eugene Marco, but was delivered by order to Russell's residence. Mark Quigley, express driver, testified of the delivery of the package. The defense took it up in the absence of the jury, and the court ruled that there was no evidence that the package contained intoxicating liquor and that the jury return a verdict of not guilty. A. E. Stearns was attorney for the defendant.

Last Basket Ball Game of the Season.

The Norway Independents vs. Portland Independents will play the last basket ball game of the season Saturday evening, March 20, at Norway Opera House.

That there may be no mistake the management says that the Norways will be made up of the fast Norway High team as far as possible, strengthened by Winifred Howe of Bethel and Earl Farnham of Norway, because of injuries that prevent some of the original Norway High team taking part in this game. A fast clean game is guaranteed.

Seats went on sale Tuesday morning, March 16, at Stone's. Dance after the game.

Norway High has won every game this season except the one with the Portland Independents, and that was much in doubt as it was claimed that the point made was after the whistle was sounded. Last year the Norway High won the championship.

Woodstock to Patrol Roads.

Woodstock, at its annual town meeting, set an example which it is hoped by good road advocates throughout the State that every other town will follow. This is the establishment of a highway patrol. At the meeting it was voted to engage three men to devote their time exclusively during the spring, summer and fall to patrolling the highways of the town and keeping them in repair.

Woodstock is one of the most important towns in the State from the highway standpoint as through it run two or three main trunk lines. The principal highway through the town is the main trunk line between Portland, Poland Spring, Norway, South Paris and Bethel. The town is better known by the name of its principal village, Bryant Pond, located on the line of the Grand Trunk. Other centers within its limits are South Woodstock and North Woodstock.

Another important highway in the town is the stage route between Bryant Pond and Rumford.

If the plan is a success, and it is believed that it will be, it is expected that other towns throughout the State will adopt the plan which it is believed is one of the longest steps toward good roads that has been taken by any town in Maine.

THE WAR DOGS.

There are war notes in the air,
They are floating everywhere,
Loud the two and forty Centimeters roar;
It is borne on every breeze
And it sighs amid the trees
Far across the broad Atlantic's troubled shore.

Chorus.

Let the War Dogs bark,
We are safe within the Ark,
There's three thousand miles of intervening sea.
Let the warring nations fight,
Claim they all are in the right,
We will sail our good old Ship Neutrality.

Sprang the Lion from his lair,
Fiercely growled the Russian Bear,
Frenchmen's swords from out their rusty scabbard's flew.
And on Belgian's neutral soil
Met the German wreck and spoil,
And the dews of mid-night bore a crimson hue.

Chorus.

Plowshares brightening in the mold
Tarnished swords shall be we're told,
Brothers' blood no more by Brothers shall be shed;
No more the hostile hosts
Invading hostile coasts,
Useless Spears shall into Pruning Hooks be made.

Chorus.

War dogs soon will cease to bark,
Men of strife to reason hark,
And our commerce unmolested sail the seas;
All the nations be at peace
And all armament shall cease,
Hope and faith this glorious boon to man decrees.

DOG BARKS.

A dog is a pet, a friend and a helper.

The confidence of a dog once lost is hard to regain.

There are occasions when it is up to the man to apologize to the dog.

In teaching tricks always reward the dog with some eatable when he accomplishes the trick properly.

A dog is a farm-hand, works for merely his board and keep and never asks for a raise in wages or for a day off.

Every family should have a dog; it is like having a perpetual baby; it is the plaything and crony of the whole family. It keeps them all young.

A dog can be so trained that he will watch a cat eat without attempting to touch the food himself, and will not allow anything else to molest it. Who says dogs have no sense?

When you go in a place and a dog comes around growling, don't pick up a fistful of stones. If you do, whatever be his nature, the dog will distrust you at once. Speak kindly, act as though you are not afraid of him, and he will reconsider and regard you as a possible friend, not as an enemy.

As Sirius follows Orion, so Master I'd follow thee,
Over the world and under the world and up through the Eastern sea!
As a mother worships her first born, so Master I worship thee
And I'd suffer the pangs of an endless hell if from pain it would keep thee free!
As mothers forgive the last born, so Master I forgive thee,
Thou art King! The King can do no wrong though my life he asks of me!

Darius Cobb, Boston's best known artist, en route to the Pacific coast, called the 11th on President Wilson at the White House, with others. President Wilson was presented with a painting by the artist.

WILL SOMEONE TELL US WHY?

Why not lift instead of bearing down? Is it not as easy to say a piece of property is worth, what it would bring if wanted by the other party who can get the full value, as to say, what it would be worth to the buyer who only buys because it has got to be sold?

Our friend the editor says, "There is no value in anything. It is worth just what one can get." This may be true in theory, but does it tend to help business?

Our whole country seems to be in or under a psychological depression. There is no other reason for it. Plenty of crops of every kind, more people than ever to be fed by us, the world over. Millions of value destroyed every day, which must be replaced largely by this country. Why then these dull times? Just this. Instead of lifting, everybody bears down. Example: A has a good house, he wishes to sell. It cost him to build, to say nothing about the lot, two thousand dollars. He asks some influential man what it ought to bring. Mr. Influencial Man, seeing perhaps a chance to make a dollar, says, fifteen hundred, and tells others this opinion which influences those who might buy and would be willing to pay what it would be worth to them to use, but for the opinion of the Influencial Man. If a place is worth twenty-five hundred for B to use as a home it is worth that to A who has it to sell.

Now if instead of crying down, the Influential Man would say the place was worth just what he or any one would pay if he had to have it, there would be a rise in value immediately. A few men of ordinary intelligence and judgment can kill or cure a locality in just this way.

If you do not want a piece of property, why cry it down? What need one care what it would bring at forced sale? Why not express an opinion as to its value to the one who needs it? There is no wrong done, no misrepresenting. If the property is worth twenty-five hundred to B to use, it is worth that for A to sell.

Let seller and buyer get together, help both by expressing the opinion as to the ultimate usable value instead of the forced sale value.

Help your neighbor, it will help you at the same time.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Served City of Boston 56 Years.

Morris B. Rowe, who recently died in Boston, was the son of Solomon and Hannah (Millett) Rowe, was born in Norway Feb. 7, 1833. He was the sixth child in the family of nine brothers and sisters. His brother, Jason F. Rowe, lives on the old home place in Norway, lower Main street. Another brother, Nathaniel M. Rowe, lives in Paris. Mr. Rowe married L. A. Haskell.

Morris Benjamin Rowe, who about five years ago retired from the employ of the city of Boston after an unbroken service of 56 years in the Health Department, died at his home, 279 Eustis street, Roxbury, aged more than 82 years. He had worked through 28 administrations, and served under 25 different Mayors. Fourteen men have been President of the United States since he began shoveling snow in Liberty square, as he put it himself in an interview some years ago, and three of them have been assassinated.

When Mr. Rowe began to work for the city, not even horse cars were running in Boston, and the streets used to be swept by men with birch brooms, which they made on rainy days. The street sweepers were preceded by men with watering pots, and the clerical work of the department, which he used to do at home at night by the aid of a tallow candle, is now done by a force of clerks.

Snow plows were unheard of when Mr. Rowe went to work for the city, and it took weeks to clear the downtown section by shoveling the snow into carts and dumping it on Boston Common. The city laborer then received $1 a day, less than one-half of that received today.

For years he was foreman of the Old South End yards and while there he took a great deal of interest in the horses. The city departments in those days had horses which served in both armies in the Rebellion and these war horses were used on the city wagons.

In 1869 Mr. Rowe was made foreman of the territory south of Milk street and including South Boston, Dorchester and Brighton. The work then included street cleaning, cesspool cleaning and the collecting of ashes and offal. He had charge of 300 men and 123 horses and he knew the number of every cart and the name of every man working for him. In those days Mr. Rowe was pretty nearly the whole department.

In 1872 when the distemper broke out among the horses, Mr. Rowe solved the problem for the city departments by buying a lot of stout rope and dividing the men up into gangs of 15 each. The men hauled the carts by the rope and this was continued until the horse disease was over. At the time of the big Boston fire in 1872, Mr. Rowe had charge of the city teams which were used to carry property which had been saved from the flames.

Mr. Rowe saw many interesting events in Boston's history. He either saw or heard most of the celebrities, such as Jeff Davis, Wendell Phillips, John Brown, Ben Butler, Gen. McClellan, Gen. Sheridan and Admiral Farragut.

The funeral was held Wednesday at 2.30, with services at his late home.

A SCHOOL REVIEW.

In my last article to the Advertiser under this title, I mentioned the selection of texts as being a part of my work. In the outlined course of study a minimum and maximum amount of work is prescribed for each grade. This is done because schools differ in the amount of work they are able to accamplish in the school year, which begins in the fall and ends with the spring term. The difference in the amount of work done by the several schools is caused by a variance in grading between village and rural schools, the size, number and ability of different classes and the length of the school year, being 34 weeks in Norway and 32 weeks in Waterford. The minimum requirements, however, as prescribed, give sufficient development to give full credit for a year's work and promotion. This work is so arranged that the average pupil by regular attendance is able to finish the essentials of common school work in eight years but there is no allowance for indifference, attendance, permitting him to advance whether present or not. Neither will a desire to be in a higher grade indicate that the pupil is able to do the work, as the arguments of parents and pupils would sometimes have me believe. In this grading the ninth grade will be retained to present the application of the previous essentials.

Very often I am pleased to know that our grading is equal to the work that is being done in some excellent school systems of Massachusetts. Such word often comes from some one in the state who is surprised to discover the grade of work we are doing. Such discoveries are made either by children going from here and maintaining the grading we have assigned them or by teachers or citizens of those cities seeing the specimens of work done in our schools. While writing this article I have in mind several such instances, which I will gladly discuss with anyone.

I often have people inquire why we do not teach beginners their A B Cs, intimating in their inquiry that they consider it a mistake on our part for not doing so. As a matter of fact the beginners do incidentally learn their letters and their order, from using the word-building letters which are taken from a box having alphabetically arranged compartments.

As to our method of teaching reading I desire to say that in nearly all modern systems of reading, the word is first taught without reference to the letters it contains. When the child has learned to tell at sight the eighty-two sight words, then he is able to read with expression the first half of his primer. This makes necessary only two processes whereas by the old alphabet method, the two processes were spelling the word, and pronouncing it from the memory of how it looked when last seen and not from anything that the letters told him, because the names of letters do not give their phonic or sound value. From these two processes the child seldom emerged with any ability as a reader until perhaps he had reached the fifth reader. I will guarantee that our second and third grade pupils will read with so much understanding and expression that it will surprise those who have never taken opportunity to visit the schools. In fact the pupils of one of our third grades read at the Oxford County Teachers' Convention at South Paris last spring with such credit to themselves and their teacher that it was one of the leading features of the convention. I think that it would be discovered, even by the most recalcitrant supporters of the old method, should they take the pains to investigate that they might make a more intelligent criticism, that a learning of the letters at the start is merely a stumbling block to good reading.

The last half of the first year the pupil learns the sound value of many of his letters. All the essential sound combinations are learned in the next year so that should he leave school at the end of the second year he would have had all the esentials for reading. With this acquired knowledge, how long would it take the average pupil to learn for himself the alphabet had he not already incidentally absorbed it? I think that his time has been better utilized in learning to read, than by cramming his head with the order of names of the alphabet which help him in his first three years as much as would so many sticks in his eyes. I find very few who complain of the results we get in reading and the above is written to answer their criticisms.

The supplementary reading books are chosen with a view to getting attractive texts that appeal to the child and are at the same time adaptable to dramatization and attractively illustrated. How well this has been done may be discovered by examining the books now in use. With such attractive texts in use it is an easy matter to get the child to read with expression. The aim of it all must be to cultivate in the pupil a spirit for independent reading and a desire for good literature.

All my sample books are placed in the schools and I take much pleasure in seeing the pupils enjoy many of them and acquire a liking for good books. In this way I find many excellent texts because the books with the greatest appeal are soon worn "dog-eared" from the almost constant companionship of their little admirers. Some of the books on the list of reading texts are not surpassed in their respective grades. Visit the schools and hear the pupils read from such texts as: The Hiawatha Primer, Sunbonnet Babies Primer, the Aldine Readers, Polly and Peter, Circus Reader, Merry Animal Tales, Heidi, King Arthur, Evangeline, Miles Standish, and many more and you will catch some of their enthusiasm for it is contagious. But you ask me, do you read all the time? Indeed we do not. I will tell you what we aim to accomplish along other lines in other articles to follow.

My back ached until I thought it would break, I had pains all over me, nervous feelings and periodic troubles. I was very weak and run down and was losing hope of ever being well and strong. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I improved rapidly and today am a well woman. I cannot tell you how happy I feel and I cannot say too much for your Compound. Would not be without it in the house if it cost three times the amount."—Mrs. CHAS. CHAPMAN, R. F. D. No. 7, Bellevue, Ohio.

Woman's Precious Gift.

The one which she should most zealously guard, is her health, but it is the one most often neglected, until some ailment peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected such women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

BY THE PLAINS OF TROY.

How the booming of fifteen-inch guns in the Dardanelles awakes the classical echoes! In this historic waterway, the Hellespont of old, through the fleet of the Allies is forcing a passage, Xerxes built his bridge of boats on his way to subjugate Greece, and here Alexander crossed to conquer the eastern world. Hard by, and within easy range of a dreadnought's shells, are the plains of windy Troy, over which scout airships hover, uncanny birds whose appearance would have driven the well-greaved Achæns to their temples to sacrifice a kid or a king's daughter to an offended God.

Perhaps, to make the analogy complete, a landing party of marines ought to camp on the sight of Priam's palace and a British middy jump from the quarter deck to emulate Leander's and Lord Byron's exploit. But certainly as the giaour forces its way toward the city of Constantine, seven centuries after "blind old Dandolo," it is easy to visualize the Venetian galleys in the waters where the giant super-dreadnoughts now lie.

Altogether, the war in Europe has done a good deal for the revival of the "Kultur" that lies in the classics. At the very start, there was the inspiring confirmation of Cæsar's opinion that, "of these the bravest are the Belgians," and only the other day there was the story of a French soldier in the trenches on the Aisne following the plan of the Roman General's Gallic War and discovering in him the inventor of trench methods of warfare. And now the warships in the Hellespont revivify Homer and Heroditus.

But while we are applying classical texts to the war, is there a closer parallel, in the devastation of Belgium and Poland, than that furnished by Tacitus: Solitudinem faciunt, pacem appellant—"They make a solitude, they call it peace?"

Severe Head Pains
Caused By Catarrh
Cured By Peruna

I Feel It a Duty to Mankind to Let All Know of My Cure. Peruna Did It.

Mr. W. H. Chaney, R. F. D. 2, Sutherlin, Pittsylvania Co., Va., writes: "For the past twelve months I have been a sufferer from catarrh of the head. Since taking four bottles of your Peruna I feel like a different person altogether. The severe pains in my head have disappeared, and my entire system has been greatly strengthened.

"This is my first testimonial to the curative qualities of any patent medicine. I feel it a duty to mankind to let them know of Peruna. In my estimation it is the greatest medicine on earth for catarrh."

We have thousands of testimonials like Mr. Chaney's. Some of them were cured after years of suffering and disappointment in finding a remedy.

"Dardanelles."

Where did the name, "Dardanelles" come from anyway?

Well, Dardanus, son of Zeus and the Pleiad Electra and the ancestor of Anchises' famous son, put the Dardan in Dardanelles, while the British and their allies seem to be trying to account for the 'elles part of it. This Dardanus, you will remember, is the chap who crossed the straits from Samothrace to the Troad by swimming on an inflated skin, and who there founded the kingdom of Dardania long before Troy became a city of "many-languaged men." Personally, we've always had a great amount of respect for Dardanus, from the fact that he is the only man on record who has been able to swim on an inflated skin. Anybody who has ever tried to keep on top of a small log in calm water has some idea of what such a trick means.

Rheumatism is a disease characterized by pains in the joints and in the muscles. The most common forms are: Acute and Chronic Rheumatism, Rheumatic Headaches, Sciatic Rheumatism and Lumbago. All of these types can be helped absolutely by applying some good liniment that penetrates. An application of Sloan's Liniment two or three times a day to the affected part will give instant relief. Sloan's Liniment is good for pain, and especially Rheumatic Pain, because it penetrates to the seat of trouble, soothes the afflicted part and draws the pain. "Sloan's Liniment is all medicine." COULDN'T WEAR SHO

Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and the Sor and Swelling Disappeared.

South Berwick, Me.—Mrs. Hann Blake, a resident of this town, writ under date of Feb. 6, 1915, says:

"It was a good day for me when paper advertising Hood's Sarsaparil was left at my home. I found in it one letter from a woman whose case was similar to mine. I had a misstep on a flight of stairs and injured my ankle. A sore two inches across formed, and walking to favor the sore I sprained my ankle.

"Rheumatism set in, but the sore increased and became so bad, all swollen and inflamed and discharging, that I could not put on my shoe and then I could not walk. Some nights I would have to get up and rub it three or four times and when I would put it on the floor in the morning I would almost faint away, but reading about the cure in a case like mine by Hood's Sarsaparilla, I decided to take this medicine.

"Before I had taken all of the second bottle the sore had healed and the swelling had all gone down. My foot soon became entirely well. I increased in weight and was generally helped. I cannot say enough in praise and am glad to recommend Hood's."

Remember to ask for Hood's Sarsaparilla and insist on having it.

The Home Comfortable

If you could hire a reliable person to stay constantly by your house heater, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, to regulate the dampers when the heat is one degree above and one degree below the temperature you wish to maintain, how much would it be worth to you?

But, in addition to this, most people want the house cooler at night than in the day. It is better for the health. Your sleepless attendant should therefore set the night temperature of your house back to 60 or 65 or whatever you wish the night temperature to be and there remains for the night, no matter if the weather in the meantime turns much cold er. More than this.

No one likes to get up and dress in cold rooms, so one hour before your time of rising, your attendant faithfully sets the damper to give the day temperature and you rise to find the whole house warm and comfortable.

How much would an attendant like this be worth? Just think of the amount saved in care and fuel.

All this is done by the Jewel Heat Controller much better than the most faithful human attendant could do if he stayed constantly by your heater night and day. This Controller can be applied to any steam or hot water heater, or hot air furnace. Many satisfied users will confirm all we have said about it.

WEST PARIS.

Mrs. Lena M. Chase.

Mrs. Lena M. Chase, who went to the C. M. G. Hospital last week Monday, underwent a more serious operation than was expected and she died early Saturday morning. She was the daughter of the late Henry and Melinda Crawford Tuell, and was born at North Paris, June 24, 1873.

She married Everett M. Chase who was found dead at the home of his mother in South Paris last August. They had two sons, Maynard T. and Reynold E., and one brother, Elmer E. Tuell, who is in an insane hospital in Massachusetts. The mother, in her feeble old age, will greatly miss the care and helpfulness of this, her only child, who lived in her home, and upon whom she could depend. The boys too, have lost the counsel and guidance of both their earthly parents, and will especially miss their mother's love and help.

Mrs. Chase was kind hearted and ever ready to help everybody who was in trouble or in most any other difficulty, for she was very capable both physically and mentally. She was an active worker in the Universalist church of which she was a member; also the Y. P. C. U. and Sunday school. She was at one time a member of the Grange and did excellent work as Lecturer; also a member of the Rebekah Lodge.

The funeral was held in her late home at 1.30 p. m., Monday. Rev. D. A. Ball spoke appropriate and comforting words. The beautiful floral tributes spoke of the loving sympathy of her many friends and loved ones as did also the more substantial gifts. The family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Leon Berry is home for a week's vacation.

The remains of Maud Bates were brought here, Thursday afternoon, accompanied by her brother, Dr. J. Harold Bates, and wife of Rochester, N. H. Prayer was offered at the home of her uncle, L. C. She was the daughter of the late Clinton and Hannah Barnes Bates, former residents of the place. Beside the brother, she leaves two uncles, Lewis C. Bates of West Paris and Henry H. Bates of New Haven, Conn., and other relatives. Rev. D. A. Ball attended the services.

Henry H. Bates of New Haven was here last week to attend the funeral of his niece, Miss Bates.

SMILEY SYSTEM—SIX STORES

KEZAR FALLS.

Two Musical Entertainments.

About five weeks previous to the Fourth of July pageant held here with such eclat in 1913, a brass band was organized under the leadership of Preston B. Warren; so efficient was the instruction and so enthusiastic the instructed that the band paraded the streets on that eventful day, playing National airs and the popularity of the band was at once assured. The interest awakened then has not waived and many are wishing for the "good old summer time" and the open air concerts given by the Kezar Falls brass band.

Last Friday evening the band gave a concert in the town hall which was well patronized and enthusiastically encored, band, soloists and quartet were at their best, Ina Stanley, in her solo "For all Eternity" seeming to draw all hearts upward on the wings of song. The program for the evening was as follows:

Solo, Selected..........W. T Norton

Another musical organization here which has given much pleasure and satisfaction, is the Riverside orchestra, Frank M. Edgecomb, leader, which assisted by the Methodist church choir, gave a musical service in the church last Sunday evening with the following program:
